Spleen - A dark the boys style parody of spiderman where the character is a incel teen who gets super powers of a scorpion.

a. Opening scene is a wet dream were Marty has sex with Stacy. He wakes up to his alarm and is late to school. Marty lives with his conservative aunt and uncle who have lineage with southern confederates and see the old south as heritage based pride. His aunt and uncle even run an antique shop that displays a confederate flag. The store is called Southern Antiques and other Artifacts and they live on second floor of of shop. In recent years the stores has had a decline in sales but the still continue to donate to David Dukes political party. When Marty walks outside he finds his Uncle cleaning Racist spraypainted on their store. Marty asks what happened. Uncle Bill explains that some vandals sprayed the store again. Bill says he wishes they would go back to the time when things were seperate but equal. marty asks why he is cleaning up the mess. Bill says "if you know something is right, you do it yourself" He takes the public bus to school and on his way he watches a beggar harass people for money. He has a crush on Stacy, the school It Girl, but she is too out of his league and the alpha male of the school, David, is currently dating her. One day, the school goes on a road trip to Vought Science Labs. A Tityus Serrulatus Scorpion infused with Compound-V escapes its pen. Marty is standing on one end of the room staring at Stacy and David who lean on each other during the Vought tour. The scorpion crawls up a table that Marty is leaning his hand on and stings him. Marty flinches at the sting and knocks over a Vought statue. The guide says that will cost him 500$ dollars. That night in bed, Marty has a nightmare of a wet dream, in which he murders everyone in the school. He cums, but then the cum expands and covers Marty, making him Spleen. While wearing the Spleen cum suit, Marty can clime walls, run at 12mph, enhances strength, create weapons with his suit, notably giant claws, venomous saliva, and camouflage himself. And the suit has a voice of its own that talks to Marty. Marty wakes up with new muscular levels and energy. His uncle informs him that they spoke to Vought and agreed to have him work Janitor services instead of the money for the broken Statue. That day at school Marty decides actually performs well at Gym class. This gets the attention of a cheerleader who talks to Marty. Marty makes a fool of himself but making a gross insensitive joke. Marty finds himself taking the subway home again, and the beggar starts asking people for money again. Marty's suit morphs over him and he tells the beggar to stop asking for money. The beggar begs for forgiveness and refuses to get off because he needs the ride to get to his home. Spleen throws him through the side bus window. The man is wounded and gets up limping, he calls for help. The Spleen suit tells Marty to kill the begger, and Mafty refuses, telling himself that he shouldn't do that. A police officer hears and runs over.. He sees the bigger begging for medical assistance. The police officer think the man might be a zombie and shoots him. Spleen proceeds to run home. A cartoon on the tv plays narrating the heroism of Homelander. Marty stands with his hips to his side, thinking about the good work he did that day by removing a beggar from the streets. Uncle Bill walks into the TV room and Marty quickly removes his cum suit. Bill turns on the news and CNN plays a story about the begger being shot by a cop after asking for help and being attacked by a monster according to eye witnesses. The cop defends his mistake by claiming he thought the man was a zombie and the monster people were deescribing. Bill concurs with the cops sentiment when seeing his injured body. saying he wouldve assumed they were a zombie too. The case uproars into BLM protest. On the first night of Marty working janitor service, his Uncles store and home is burned down during a. BLM Riot. Spleen goes on a rampage in response and the vought cameras see him transform. Marty finds himself sulking during school lunchtime. Stacy and David feel bad for Marty after hearing about Bill's store burning down. David is hesitant at first, he points out that the stories made donations to David Dukes. Stacy still brings up it can never be easy to lose a family member. David comes over to him. Stacy speaks condolences about Bill. David contributes by saying he didn't agree with Bill on a lot of things but he knows it can't be easy having a relative killed. Marty talks back, saying his uncle was a great man and it was David's kind who killed him. David's exclaims he's biracial, and even if he was full black, it's not his fault. Stacy realizes reaching out was a bad and says they should just go. David calls Marty a cracker freak right before walking away. This triggers Marty and he yells Nigger and the whole cafeteria hears it. This quickly results in an expulsion for him. The principle cites the current political climate for creating a zero tolerance for racial slurs. At the new apartment, Marty tells his aunt that Dave called him cracker first so it was okay. And she agrees the expulsion was unnecessary. She wishes there was a way to get rid of all the anti white Rhetoric in the world. She then changes the subject and asks Marty to look up how to sell some firearms. Bills old handgun and AR 15 were someone the only things to survive the fire because they were in a gun safe at the time.. Spleen climes into the school through a window, with a back pack of firearms on his back. Spleen Waits for 1rst lunch to end, knowing that Stacy and David have the 2nd. While chilling on the ceiling, he overhears a conversation. A groups of teens discuss how much of a freak Marty is, how they think he has a limp wrist, and how they are happy his uncle is dead. This makes Marty leap into sight and slaughter them. Other teens watch in horror as Spleen chews them up. One Security Guard tries to shoot Spleen, and he is killed. The other security guard runs out in fear. Someone pulls and alarm, and the school begins to evacuate. The cum suit speaks to Marty, and says fuck it, kill every last brainlet at the school. He sees David and Stacy about to escape but pulls them back in. At this point swats arrive at the scene led by blue Hawk. And officer says the monster has two teens hostage and asks if they should enter. Blue eagle says that unless they know the monster is killing teens at that second they should wait, cut off the perimeter and don't let him escape though. They have also been armed with only tranquilizers after after recent killing of a begger. Inside, Marty reveals himself to David and taunts him. Calling himself the alpha now, and David is the beta. David cuts him down. Saying he once thought that maybe Marty was just raised in a bad environment and that maybe he will grow out of it someday. But now he sees that Bill is a cracker, born to be one, destined to be one. Marty snaps off David's head. Marty turns to Stacy and says he could make give her the best life ever if she promised to love him. She begs for her life. The suit talks to Marty and tells him she thinks she's better than him. The suit then tells Marty that if he can make her cum that will make him a real man. Marty says he will show her what a real man is like. Parents outside are restrained. Saying they have kids inside and it's been 40 minutes. Stacie scream is heard from the school. The cop who killed the beggar before is ordered to go in tranquilizer. The cop finds Spleen hunched over, Stacy whimpering in a fetal position. The cop shoots Spleen. Spleen is caught and brought in. The news records a new 35 dead because of the latest Super Massacre. Blue Hawke decides the best thing is open up a rehabilitation program for supes so that no supes feels at threat. First contender for the program is spleen. And if Spleen cooperates with the program, he may have a spot in the 7.
